1. Until the elections are decided (over) we are in a T- 1 week and holding status. UNODIR will have check next week to see when you can get on the calendar.

2. Even though the campaign has disrupted your briefing opportunities (as well as SCC activity except with respect to the most serious crises--Iran-Iraq and Poland), world events have not declared a holiday. Before deciding how you may want to proceed toward your next briefing you might want to explore what is going on. We can use either of the familiar methods (thrust outline or meeting with analysts). We have some time already blocked out on your schedule for Pre-Briefs that can be used (the first available is this Wednesday).

3. Following are some topics/issues of possible interest (these in addition to ad hoc meetings on Iran-Iraq, Iran, Poland and Afghanistan)--please note those you would like to discuss this week:
